LATE TELEGRAMS.

The following telegrams are taken from the Straits Times—

LONDON, 23rd February.
M. Cambon, Prefect of the Department of the Nord, and not M. Todeau, replies M. Roustan at Tunis.

Count Schouvaloff referred to in last telegram as being dead is not the former Russian Ambassador in London.

ALEXANDRIA, 23rd February.
Quarantine is being enforced at the arrival from Bombay which will only have been in case of previous quarantine at Aden.

PARIS, 23rd February.
In the Chamber of Deputies to-day there was a debate upon Egypt, the President of the Council of Ministers said, that the French Government-General has been instructed to maintain a preponderant influence in Egypt, the European concert, in itself, was the best way to guard against serious consequences in the present state of affairs.

PARIS, 23rd February.
Fighting in Herzegovina is general and of a severe character; several thousands of destitute insurgents have been driven from their homes.

CATRO, 23rd February.
The personal influence of A. B. B. Minister of War, is increasing; he will probably replace the President of the Council of Ministers.

PARIS, 23rd February.
Sir Charles Dilke, replying to a question in the House of Commons, said, that the most favoured nation clause would come into operation with France after the 15th of May, but that the old treaty tariff would in the meanwhile continue in force.

PARIS, 23rd February.
The French Government has made no pledge.

LONDON, 23rd February.
Lord Hartington has, after enquiry, given his decision regarding the charges brought against Sir Richard Martin by the London Standard.

The Secretary of State has been before the House simply to call upon the members of the Government, and that the imputation of corruption is entirely unfounded. His Lordship describes Sir Richard as an upright, zealous servant of Government, and that the imputation of corruption is entirely unfounded.

The police have been ordered to be in competition with the destruction of the body of the late Earl Crawford from the Museum at Daresbury.

CONSTANTINOPLE, 23rd February.
As a mark of friendship towards Austria the Sultan has sent the Austrian Legation a letter to prevent the Albanians joining the insurgents of Bosnia and Herzegovina.

PARIS, 23rd February.
The Chamber of Deputies has rejected the Bill introduced by M. Tirard that English gold should be subject to the most favoured nation clause.

LONDON, 23rd February.
In the House of Commons this evening Mr. Gladstone moved to amend the order of the day in order to bring forward his motion that a committee of enquiry at the present time into the working of the Irish Land Act would defeat its object and be injurious to the interests of the good Government in Ireland.

Mr. Gladstone also in moving the above postponement said that a committee would have been possible had the House of Lords agreed to amend any enquiry into the operation of the Land Act.

Mr. Stelfox Northcote opposed the motion, but the House eventually agreed to postpone the orders by 300 votes against 167.

Mr. Gladstone then proposed that the House should move the previous question and the debate was adjourned.

ST. PETERSBURG, 23rd February.
The present situation here has been mentioned to death and to go to the point of service.

LONDON, 1st March.
The committee appointed by the House of Lords to enquire into the working of the Irish Land Act met yesterday, when Lord Cairns was elected chairman.

LONDON, 23rd February.
An influential deputation of citizenship officers yesterday visited Lord Cairns and presented a protest against the extension of the Land Act to the Irish Republic.

In reply Mr. Cairns said the matter was seriously occupying the attention of the British Government, and that the Foreign Office had not been idle in having communicated with other Governments.

More or less indirectly to use their best efforts to remedy the present almost intolerable state of affairs.

INDIAN NEWS.
MADRAS, 24th February.
The Municipal five per cent loan, three and a half per cent, for water supply extension and drainage, covered five times over the subscription.

There are two trunks in the canal, and will start shortly to take up his appointment.

THE KAIPING COAL MINES.
TIENTSIN, 11th March, 1892.

A good deal has lately been written in your columns and in those of your contemporary about the Kaiping Mines. A short unbiased account of a recent visit to these mines may not be uninteresting to those of your readers who take an interest in mining in China.

A day's journey by rail took us from Tientsin to the mouth of the new coal canal, on the banks of the Peking river, 60 miles north of Tientsin. There are two trunks in the canal, and will start shortly to take up his appointment.

Everything seen here shows that the work is being done in a thoroughly substantial and business like manner, but there is still some three months' work to be done, and the looks can be completed.

The length of the canal is said to be 80 li. On proceeding by rail to Tang-shan, where the colliery is situated, we saw the canal in the distance, and upon the canal we saw the bridges in the distance, and upon the canal we saw the bridges in the distance.

There are two trunks in the canal, and will start shortly to take up his appointment.

Through the kindness of the Chinese Merchants' Company here, we were favoured with letters of introduction to the Chinese manager and the foreign engineers of the work, and the head of the canal, and the head of the canal, and the head of the canal.
